ABOUT ME

Until 2017, I had no knowledge or education in programming; but the recent 2 years I made myself a passionate, self-taught full-stack developer, with knowledge in IT and real business issues.

Moving to React and VueJS, Front-end development is increasingly a time-consuming process, which is why I would like to join a larger team to make more production-grade web applications.

I have PR work right and am available to start immediately.
